INTRODUCTION

The Hill Notre-Dame du Haut (France, Haute-Saône) is a host to three internationally renowned architects. Le Corbusier rebuilt on this site in 1955 the Notre-Dame du Haut Chapel, the destination of a pilgrimage to the Virgin Mary for centuries. Jean Prouvé was chosen in the 1970s to design the Chapel's Belfry, and Renzo Piano constructed the Saint Clare Monastery, as well as the Porterie, the reception pavillion of the site. This hill offers to pilgrims and architecture enthusiasts alike, a unique and amazing location, unreservedly and internationally admired.

On July 17 2016, the Notre-Dame du Haut Chapel became a UNESCO World Heritage-listed site alongside 16 other works by Le Corbusier.

The works by Le Corbusier at Ronchamp are protected by their status as registered Historic Monuments by the French administration as well as being listed as XXth Century UNESCO World Heritage works.

Located only 30 minutes from Belfort and 1h30 from Besançon, the Hill Notre-Dame du Haut is in close proximity of Alsace (1h from Basel/ Mulhouse) and of the Vosges (1h from Épinal). Its ideal location in the East of France contributes to make it a much appreciated destination.

For groups, the Porterie's team offers all the services that contribute to an unforgettable experience. Our tour guides will accompany your guests for a visit unveiling the fascinating beauty of the entire domain. Groups can also book to have lunch in one of two houses by Le Corbusier. Before their departure, visitors can browse our many books and quality souvenirs at our shop, many of which are exclusive.

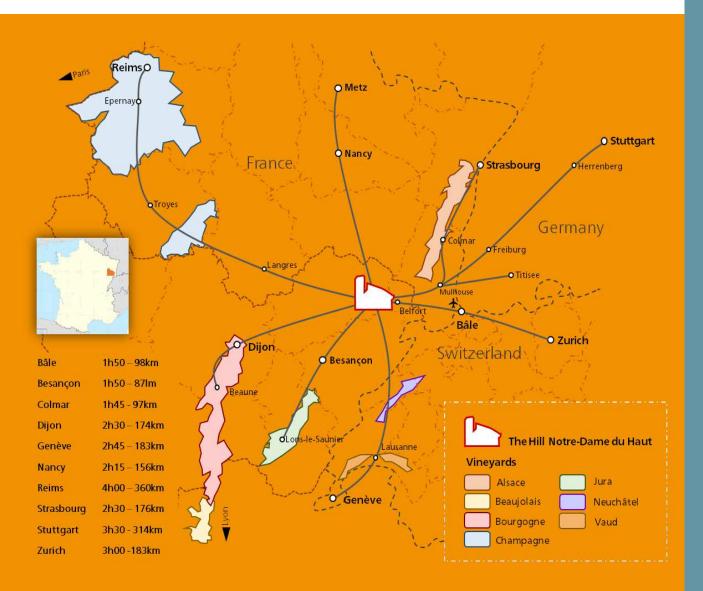

The quality of the reception at the Hill of Notre-Dame du Haut is guaranteed by two different labels.
